ALBERTA ATHLETIC CLUBS TO JOIN THE AMATEUR UNION

All athletic clubs in the province that wish to become affiliated with the Alberta branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada are urged to send in their applications to Secretary Leroy Chown, care Wood, Vallance and Adams, Calgary, at the earliest possible date. In order that the annual meeting of the A.A.U. to be held in Edmonton on May 17, may be marked success, it is absolutely essential that every part of the province be represented, and any cities, towns or villages in Alberta, intending to enter the field of sport this year, should complete their organization work immediately and join up with the Amateur Union.

Delegates to this meeting will be decided on the membership of the club league or other athletic organization to be represented. In sending in the application for affiliation with the Amateur Union the details of the athletic club which it represents must be outlined.

Ritchie is saved from K. O. at Hands of Leonard

NEWARK, N.J., April 28.—Willie Ritchie, of San Francisco, was saved by the referee from a knockout at the hands of Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, forty seconds before the end of the eighth and final round of a bout here last night. Ritchie was on the ropes when the match was stopped. Leonard receives credit for a technical knockout. Ritchie fought gamely throughout the contest, but was outclassed all the way.

Winnipeg Ball Club has Hard Hitting Outfit.

WHITEWATER, Wis., April 29.—The Winnipeg Club went to Milwaukee Sunday and beat the Lakeside league club of that city by a score of ten to one. Sheehan and Morrison made home runs. On account of rain only seven innings were played. Predictions that Winnipeg has a hard hitting aggregation was proven in this game. Moll and Sheehan brought back a good looking catcher as the first out-fielder who just returned from the army.

Morrison, the big pitcher looks fine and made the longest home run ever made on the grounds.

A meeting was held on Monday night by the baseball club for the purpose of getting things started. There was not much business done, the discussion being on routine lines. It was decided that the regular practice nights would be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week at the Fair grounds.

Several of the boys were working on the grounds and have put them in good shape.

The manager V. E. Graham and G. W. H. were made a collection of four hundred dollars and collected $100 all in $10 donations. A further canvass will be made for smaller donations.

The football boys are working hard every night now, getting in shape for the trip to Vermilion on the 24th of May. A team will be picked out of the club and they have every chance of bringing home the honours. A manager will be chosen.

The gun club have sent for repairs to the trap and as soon as they arrive will have their first shoot.

When is a pickered a poke? Ask Washburn.

A meeting of the executive of the Wainwright Athletic association will be held in the Star office on Friday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of fixing up grounds and for other business. It is proposed that the club affiliate with the Alberta Amateur Athletic Union, and have a recognized representative in this district, so that field sports could be carried on under official sanction and records kept.

The girls are starting up a basketball club and will practice at the school grounds.

A shipment of lacrosse sticks have arrived in town and those intending to get one should make their pick right away as there is only a few left.

LOVE'S LABOR LOST

"What did Mr. Cummings say to you last night, Clara, when he was trying to button your glove?" queried the anxious mother.
"Why?" replied the daughter, "he said that any firm making gloves as hard to button as mine ought to quit the business."
"Well, my dear," continued the mother, "take my advice and don't waste any more time in that direction."

Joe Lally To Visit Alberta Soon

Joe Lally, is coming west in connection with certain matters relating to the Mann Cup. While he is in Alberta, he should take steps to reorganize the game in this province. No doubt his presence here while the league is being formed or reorganized will mean a lot. One thing that Lally is especially desirous of doing is to get the youngsters in the game. A few years ago he made a trip through the west trying to organize the game amongst the school boys but just as his efforts were meeting with a well deserved success, the war started. Once again Lally comes west and it is to be hoped he boasts the old Indian game of Lacrosse into the place it deserves as the national summer game.

ZBYSKO DEFEATS "STRANGLER LEWIS"

CHICAGO, Ill., April 28.—Wladek Zbysko, the Pole, defeated Ed "Strangler" Lewis of Kentucky, for the second time in two months in a finish wrestling match tonight. Zbysko pinned Lewis down after two hours, 14 minutes and nine seconds with a roll and body scissor.

WIL APPOINT DELEGATES FOR A.A.U. MEETING

The executive of the Edmonton Amateur Athletic Association will hold a meeting on Monday night, next week to appoint delegates to attend the annual meeting of the Alberta Amateur Athletic Association in Edmonton on May 17.

Lacrosse Meeting in Edmonton May 17.

It is expected that the annual meeting of the Alberta Amateur Lacrosse league will be held in Edmonton on May 17th in order that it will be in touch with the meeting of the Alberta Amateur Athletic Association. Lacrosse is securing a firm place in the interest of the public of Edmonton as well as the rest of the province and it is expected the league meeting will take steps towards giving it a further boost upwards on the ladder of popularity.

IMREY KIRALFY DEAD

London—Imre Kiralfy, famous as the organizer of pageants and spectacular plays, died Sunday at Brighton.

LIEUT. WEBB GIVES A TALK ON THE WAR

If delegates had been possible for pigeons there would have been as many V.C. feathered heroes as there are khaki-clad men. How very significant has been the pigeon service and how much it has contributed toward victory for the allies has not generally known, but the pigeons, in the carrying of messages from the line of fire, rendered an aid that men and the line and those in command have recognized to the full.

The above remarks were made by Lieut. W. T. Webb, recently returned from overseas, to a large attendance of members of the Edmonton Pigeon Society, held in Civic Block last night. Mr. Webb gave an outline of the work of the birds on the lines of communication and told of many heroic flights made by pigeons in their work of carrying messages from the front lines to the varied commands in the rear.

Many are the occasions on which the birds have returned shell-torn and exhausted but always with their message. This message has told of infantry, hard pressed, of men without ammunition, of a lack of reserves, of the location of an enemy battery. Messages always carried news and requests of importance and unless death intervened, as was often the case, they would be delivered. It seemed that the birds realized the importance of their task, and the absolute necessity that they return with the little metal holder attached to the leg.

Mr. Webb told of one little V. C. hero now placed on view in London. The little fellow, whose award was posthumous, has since been nicely fixed up by the taxidermist but his body still shows the case and its message which had been forced by shell fire through the bird's breast. It also shows a broken leg and a shrapnel wound in the neck. But despite the terrible wounds that bird had to contend with, it returned to its base five miles in the rear of the front line, delivered its message and died.

In addition to being placed into service on land, birds were used to a large extent by the Royal Naval Air Service, and many are the lives saved by the work of the pigeon. One case mentioned was that of a pilot and observer whose machine crashed at sea. Fortunately the machine remained afloat and in their distress, the men were able to use the pigeons which they had with them for message purposes. At a speed of more than a mile a minute, the birds raced back to their loft with the information as to the plight and location of the men and, as a consequence, assistance arrived in time to save their lives. Mr. Webb concluded his remarks by saying that the work of the feathered heroes could not be too highly praised or its value too overestimated.

CAMPING GROUNDS AT THE EDMONTON FAIR THIS YEAR

The Edmonton Exhibition grounds have been enlarged by the addition of sixty five acres. This section is being improved with rustic and paths, a new women's building is contemplated, and many improvements are under way for the summer exhibition, July 7-12. In this new section, a beautiful grove of shade trees has been set aside for the use of visitors from out-of-the-city, who wish to motor to the summer exhibition, bring their families and camp on the grounds. Arrangements will be made to have an office located conveniently where tents, mattresses, cots and tables may be rented at a nominal charge. Campers will be required to furnish their own bedding and dishes. It is expected that this will not only solve the problem of securing rooms during exhibition week, but induce many to attend the Exhibition for the entire week, bringing their families with them.

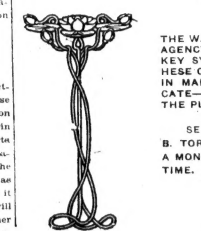

Manager Stark will gladly furnish full information to intending campers.

Claims Stockmen Will Demand From Railways

Final revision was given the list of questions which the stockmen and shipmen of the province wish to discuss with the railways at a meeting of the special committee which was appointed during the recent meeting in Edmonton and they set out in shape, and will be presented as a petition which has been arranged with the railway officials to be held at Edmonton, Tuesday, May 4.

The petition covers very much the same ground as those which were presented in 1914 and 1915 by the Calgary Livestock Exchange and ratified by the members of the committee. It is slightly changed, some are dropped and some are introduced.

W. P. Stevens presided over the meeting which was attended by J. A. Chatterworth, J. H. Ashcroft, Tom Hall and John Hark representing the Calgary Livestock Exchange.

New questions taken in included suitable watering accommodations at Carleton Place.

Another request will be that suitable feeding accommodation is to be provided at junction points where cattle may have to be unloaded.

Representatives of the Edmonton and Calgary Livestock Exchanges are to be sent to represent these organizations at the meeting of the Western Canada Livestock Union, which is to be held in Winnipeg.

The other sections of the original petition which were dropped to press for water.

That, where due to a shortage of cars, live cars were offered shipmen in the usual proportion, in list of stock cars ordered, freight charges be based on the actual off-car weight at destination, and that there be no reduction in freight charges based on the number of head loaded.

That, where due to the railway's inability to supply stock cars as ordered two box cars in lieu of one stock car be provided at the rate of one stock car, in the case of shipments of hogs.

That in the case of supplying box cars in lieu of stock cars, railways provide them equipped, or alternatively that they bear the complete cost of labor, boards, nails and fitting equipment them.

That the railways be required to furnish cars for the shipment of livestock within three days of the date of ordering, and that they be attended, in the event of their guaranteeing to provide cars, to $1.00 per day demurrage for every day cars stand unloaded after having been placed at shipper's disposal.

That at transfer points where C. N. or G.T.C. cars are transferred to C.P. lines, or vice versa, a proper record be kept of dates and hours of arrival, etc., in writing so that delay in placing or transferring or lifting from transfer trucks may be traced to the particular railway responsible.

That the cleaning charge be charged against the railways and not against the shippers.

Amendments to Live Stock Special Contract (G.P.R.) Form 38.

That proper sleeping accommodations be provided man in charge of stock, and that to protect them from the discomfort of train crews, a notice be required to be placed up in every carbox whether stockmen's rights to accommodation, and warning against and penalizing treatment for any breach of conduct in connection with the rights of stock travelling in charge of stock shipments.

That the railways be responsible in the case of death or injury from accident of a travelling livestock shipment.

These are the very reasonable demands which the stockmen of the province are unanimous in pressing on the railway companies. There are yet many of them which are reasonable, and it is felt that by diplomatic negotiations carried on by the members of the committee with the railway representatives that satisfactory arrangements can be arrived at on all the points introduced.

Developments in Central B.C.

Van derhoof, B.C., April 13th.—Rapid development of the dairy industry of Central British Columbia is promised with the establishment of a Government creamery here. The opening of the land settlement area in Nechako Valley and the soldier settlement plan now under way in the Stuart Lake District, have brought the dairy and livestock interests of this valley, so forcefully to the notice of the Provincial Department of Agriculture that the Hon. E. D. Burrow, Minister, has promised to establish a co-operative creamery at Vanderhoof, entirely at Government expense, and under the direction of a government expert.

There are some fifty dairy cows in the Stuart Lake district alone, and the government will furnish an extensive home market and encourage increased production.

The Government's strong policy of leasing idle wild lands under cultivation beginning with the two settlement areas of 20,000 acres in the Nechako Valley and 15,000 acres of land in the Bulkley Valley, has had an immediate effect in the agricultural and industrial development of the central part of the province.

Prospecting continues throughout the Nation Lake country, and an extensive iron field fifty miles south of here, is expected to make Vanderhoof eventually important as a manufacturing center as well as the centre of the richest agricultural area between Edmonton and Prince Rupert. Development of the iron depends, however, upon the location of a smelter either at Vanderhoof or at Inland Rupert, with the prospect in favor of the latter because of its location and ship-building interests.

PAKE GRAIN VARIETIES

Each year many farmers are the victims of plausible agents who are selling so-called new varieties. Many extravagant claims they make a corresponding price and only find out the farmer who naturally desires more productive varieties it obtains a comparatively high price for a supposedly new and profitable crop which is either a old variety camouflaged with a new name or else a selection whose qualities are entirely unknown. Being divisible into classes these agents and their claims can be stopped conveniently as follows:

First—Those who take a high yield, while the variety such as Banner or G.A.C. No. 75, give it another name and introduce it as a new variety.

Second—Those who are selling a variety that has multiplied from a poorer plant or from extraordinary heads found in the general crop. The producer thinking it a valuable variety, offers it for sale before its qualities are known.

Third—Those who are offering for sale to a few limited customers only, a wonderful variety that was produced by a secret process of selection or else has been grown from a few seeds found in the tundra of the arctic regions.

A fourth class might be made of those who sell a variety for what it is, but make extravagant claims for its yielding ability. This is well illustrated by the Alaska or seven-headed wheat.

The agent in the first case is a financial shark who is obtaining money by false pretences. He perhaps shows the least harm of any and the confusion created in the community of varieties and the money which he takes from the farmer.

In the second case the agent may be acting in the best of faith and with the conviction that his claims will be justified by the resulting crop. Perhaps they will be but the variety is not the one that has been introduced in this way and have been found worthless in comparative tests with standard varieties.

The third agent, though, is the real out and out grain dealer and should be liable to prosecution. The farmer who is deceived by his pretences almost deserves to pay the price of his credulity.

It is the right of any person who has multiplied out a selection of grain to sell it for what it is and to charge the price he sees fit. Against these well intentioned, legitimate transactions we have nothing to say beyond warning the farmer, that at the best he is likely only buying an old variety and that exceedingly few of these admirable selections are ever of value.

What is suitable for this in every case before buying a variety that he intends to grow as a general crop, the farmer should consult the reports of his nearest Experimental Station. The remedy for the actual frauds that are perpetrated is in his own hands. As long as he will buy the agents will sell and the efforts put forth by the cereal stations of Canada for the improvement of crops will continue to be partially frustrated.

EDMONTON BANKER ENDORSES WAR SAVINGS PLAN

G. F. R. Kirkpatrick, manager of the Imperial Bank at Edmonton, is a firm believer in the gospel of thrift and also is convinced that the "War Savings Plan" will greatly promote the practice of saving. In a recent statement he says:

"Once a person gets into a careless habit in his small expenditures, they are very difficult to overcome. A habit which takes his fancy for the moment entices the silver from his pocket. These small outlays, which in fact are of any benefit to the man or woman, or boy, or girl who is saving, soon mount up to a large sum."

"The War Savings Stamp system provides a convenient means of putting aside small sums. Once a person takes it up he is bound to realize soon how much he is improving his financial position without any sacrifice of comfort, or of anything which he really ought to have."

"We have the greatest need of getting back to the thriftiness of our fathers and grandfathers, who made it possible for them to lay the foundations of Canadian prosperity. It cannot be made permanent with the huge burdens to meet that the war has imposed upon us, unless there is a great change from the habits of the immediate past."

"My advice is to follow the old adage 'take care of the pence and the pounds will look after themselves.' The War Savings system is an excellent plan to commence looking after the pence and when a person gets the habit the pounds will soon grow."

The Wainwright Pharmacy informs us that already a great many farmers are buying Blackleg Cooids, preparatory to vaccinating their cattle this spring. There is no question but that this is a good move; something that every owner of cattle ought to attend to before it is too late. Veterinarians are agreed that there is little use trying to treat a case of blackleg. It is almost invariably fatal and a single case is likely to result in the loss of the animal. It is a well established fact that vaccination will protect against the disease, no one ought to neglect this precaution. The next time you have an opportunity, ask for information: Blackleg Cooids, at Wainwright Pharmacy.

Commissioner Says Quality Must Improve

Better marketing facilities for the live stock of the province is necessary for the continuation of the business stated W. P. Stevens in an address at the banquet given in Calgary Saturday night in honor of Edward Evans, late manager of the Calgary Stock yards. Mr. Evans is leaving shortly to take up duties as manager of the new yards at Moose Jaw, and he is to be succeeded at Calgary by E. Ward Jones, for the past few years manager of the Dominion government at the Calgary yards.

Mr. Stevens outlined the improvements that had taken place during the period in which Mr. Evans and himself had been connected with the live stock marketing business in Western Canada, but said that much more remained to be done. He stated that on the occasion of a certain important meeting called to discuss this question he made the statement that the live stock industry of Western Canada could not attain its highest possibilities until we had cold storage facilities at the seaboard to develop the dressed meat trade with Great Britain and later public abattoirs coupled with cold storage facilities at very important live stock markets in the west. He said the suggestion was received with anything but enthusiasm by those present, and although some six years had elapsed since then he had not changed his view in this respect.

Quality Must Improve

He was so sure to have to say that we would have to have much more improvement in quality before great success would be possible. We have to compete in quality and quantity. He had been sorry to find that Canadian meat was at the bottom of the list of all that imported into Britain. He mentioned that the tops were picked for shipment to Chicago and went overseas credited to the United States.

J. H. Ashcroft, manager of the Edmonton yards, was also a guest at the banquet and responded to the toast to the Edmonton visitors. He paid a tribute to the work done at Calgary by Mr. Evans.

National Abattoirs

George Howley, whose name was coupled with the toast to the "Provincials" gave us his opinion that stock yards and abattoirs should be a national undertaking. He believed that as far as possible the expense that went between the growing of the stock when it was placed on the table should be eliminated. To do this the whole business of marketing should be a national undertaking.

Mr. Howley of the C. P. R. gave some figures showing the growth of the yards since the C.P.R. had acquired interest in them in 1910. That year their shipments of hogs had been 171, and in 1915 the figures had been 129,000. In 1910 the abattoirs had included 6,000 horses, while in 1915, 10,000; in 1910 they had shipped out 2,600 cattle and in 1915, 56,000 cattle; in 1910 285 sheep, and in 1915, 16,000 sheep. He paid a glowing tribute to the work of Dr. Babcock in connection with the Calgary yards.

At the conclusion of a long program of speeches President D. G. McIntosh, of the Calgary Live Stock Exchange, presented Mr. Evans with a gold watch, expressing their appreciation of his services at Calgary.

JOCK MACINER

There were over 400 there. The boys took 18 and left the rest go. Look how the flock of geese has multiplied! Now we have a flock of over 350. They started coming in February 20, and when the first whirling down it counted 115 about at his house, my home and Lake Erie. When the first was lighting in the pond, you couldn't see the end of the string of families that were coming.

Five Acres of Geese.

I don't know whether you have experienced it, but I have; there is nothing more embarrassing than to have more geese than you can feed. There I was, on Good Friday of 1915 with a flock of 115 full of geese, and I couldn't begin to feed them. Some of the geese must have told their friends that was not true, and indeed there, to come to a place where there was not enough to eat. We brought them close to the house and let the tame ones come there to feed. I was speaking at the Rotary Club in London the other day, and one gentleman asked me how I moved the birds. This was my explanation: I told them that if you feed your birds, keep moving the food accordingly, and pretty soon you can put the spoon in your mouth and the birds will alight on it.

I will tell you about one family, on a dozen interesting ones last autumn. On October 10, six geese came. By the way, we never had over 150 in the autumn. Which way do they come in autumn? I wait out and in. I don't know where they come, and the old gander answers. He knew me, I got twelve ears of corn, and threw one of them at him. Just as I did so the four baby geese jumped into the air, but he called them and they dropped down. Then I threw more ears of corn and each one the same thing would happen; he would sound the low note, and every time the same thing would happen; he would come down. By the time I had thrown the eighth ear he had convinced them that all was well and they didn't fly away any more. It was interesting to watch him trying to educate them to take the kernels of corn off the ear, but it was strange to me. He would get a kernel off and drop it, but it was only fifteen minutes before he got those goings to take the corn; when they did start they cleaned off every kernel of the twelve ears. That told me the young geese have never seen an ear of corn before, and that they had come all the way from the States; they without a mouthful and dropped down there. The old gander had led them all the way down.

Why do I point this old gander and his five goings into the coop and she held the door while I went in and clamped a tag on his leg. After I tagged him I took him to the door and threw him out—the same old gander that had been telling his girls and boys to eat the corn, and to stay there and not be afraid. When I threw the gander out, did he fly to the lake? To know the Canada geese to love him forever, and if there is any person in Ottawa who can tell me how that most intelligent, self-sacrificing bird came to be honored by being called the Canada goose, I wish he would write me. You can't show me any of his actions that one need be ashamed of, not one.

To resume my story. This old gander went out, and when he was about two rods away he turned around and looked back. You could hear him calling for the rest of the family in his little catch pen. Mrs. Miner at this time would rather have been on the outside looking in, because as I was on each leg and named him "Sir John Moore." We put on the tag this year of Scripture.

"No good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly."

They migrated as usual, and on March 17 following, the boys said "Look, Dad," and there was old Sir John Moore looking for more corn, with the two cubs of his left. Five of his family had returned; he had taken care of them down in the south-east states of winter, and brought them back. The last week in April they disappeared, and my heart sank when I opened a letter from Fort George, James Bay, and found four tags. The letter read: "The Indian says that seven geese came into their decoys, and they killed four of them; each one had a tag on it." You know just how I would feel, although that is part of the game. To the fellow who wants to shoot let me say this: I am not opposed to a man shooting a bird or two, but will you not join with us in trusting your gun? Remember that bird that falls out of the air from your deadly aim gives you, and me a little pleasure, but deprives thousands of people of pleasure and recreation in seeing it alive. Let us consider that; let us think it over.

Delilah raised during the six seasons, five families, two of eight and two of nine, and this year she came home with twelve. What does name protection mean? Protect the old duck, and you can quickly figure out what the total increase in six years will be. Delilah returned for the sixth time and she raised these five families. I haven't seen her since August.

Drake's Bad Character.

The Canada goose is the most faithful and self-sacrificing bird on earth. I kept one for four years, and I know. I kept old Jack Johnson, for two years and a half, but I got rid of him. I wouldn't keep a wild goose or gander around the premises after he has lost his sweetheart; they just keep on hounding in that sad way, that the poorest, principled person of his flesh in feathers is the drake; he is nothing but a Brigham Young, that's all. Fair me a mind of the mother who has to be father and mother both like some poor wretched man who goes out and does 10 worth of work and brings home 50 cents for it; then, "Ain't it home to feed her family, while the lady, good-for-nothing has land is putting in his time in the far end of nowhere, counting garden strikes and making remarks about the clean people that pass the dirty window. That is the principle of the drake. That is the principle of the drake.

Your property is worth more now than it ever was before so take care of it. It is a crime the amount of good buildings that are going to rise in this town. We sell it—it doesn't cost much to paint a building, and well painted buildings are signs of prosperity and good citizenship.

Rents are high and going higher. The house you are living in today may be sold some day and you will waste time money and energy moving. Lumber is not high. Gospel afternoon:

Mr. Telford is building a nice new residence next to P. D. Laird's house.

Miss Elva Penby has been the guest of Miss Gertrude Burleigh for the past few days. Mrs. Penby and her children have been visiting Mrs. Small.

A musical event of the season passed over on Friday evening when the concert directed by Mrs. D. O. Brown took place. A varied program consisting of orchestral numbers, vocal solos and a quartette followed by the cantata "The Star of Bethlehem" by Mrs. D. O. Brown and Rev. Priestley took their parts splendidly and were ably supported by a fine chorus.

Mr. Benk's family are visitors to town this week. Mr. Benk's is recuperating from the flu.

Many flattering remarks were passed as the pretty procession of school children wended its way to the depot last Friday—fingers flying, happy faces testifying to their pleasure in the return of the popular boys.
